

Neutropenia

Chemotherapy or radiation can inhibit the production of white blood cells, called neutrophils, which can result in neutropenia, making a patient more prone to infection.

